This is a private company you're dealing with.
They provide a service to PAYING customers who appreciate their efforts.

Local weather and traffic reports are not "proprietary" to anyone, and if a monkey was paid to call and leave traffic/weather updates for people who WANTED them, than so be it. (hoo hoo, haa haa)

Perhaps we should take down the temperature signs at banks while we're at it. Or better yet, eliminate the weather Channel...after all, if you're going to do something right (read: STUPID), might as well do it all the way.
